all the Men in Ogden Shops Lay Down Tools.

ogpen, Feb. 26.-The boller makers urike is absolute in Ogden. Not one of strike is absolute in Ogden. Not one of the men showed up for work today, and they declare that they will not take up their tools again until their demands are complied with. So far as known nothing has developed to indicate whether or not the other railroad organizations will be called out in sympathy with the boiler makers. It is said, however, that the mainakers will be brought before the Trades and Laber assembly, and if the railroad company does not comply with their demands the other organizations will be called out.

(Special to The Tribune.)

LEHI, Feb. 23.—Another of Lehi's early settlers. William Simons, has gone to his last reward, having been a sufferer from asthma for a number of years. He came to Utah in 1857, walking from the Missouri river, pushing a hand cart in company with a number of other emigrants. Later he made several trips to the Missouri river with ox teams to assist other emigrants to Utah.

He was a Black Hawk veteran, serving under Squire Wells at Richfield. Mr. Simons was born in Mansfield, Sussex, England, March 25, 1841. The funeral will be held Monday at 1 o'clock.

Mr and Mrs C. H. Smith, who were married last Wednesday at Willard, are visiting friends in Lehi, and last evening were tendered a reception at the residence of Hyrum Smith. The groom is a popular railroad man of Juab and the bride is one of Willard's most popular young ladies, and was formerly Miss Mary A. Woodworth.

Judge Kendall had a busy week disposing of criminal cases. Edward Harrison and George Wanlass were fined $25 each for stealing three chickens, the property of William Ball. Wiffiam Murdock was fined $250 for assaulting Frank Roberts with a billiard cue, and Elgin Boni was fined $15 for making an assault on Jay Smuin with a carving knife. All paid their fines, thus replenishing the city treasury to the extent of $57.50.

Dr. George L. Stookey returned this week from a three weeks visit to Tooele county, during which time he married Mrs. Annie M. Marshall. The popular young couple will make Lehi their home.

Hon. George Austin has returned from a trip to the Big Horn (Wyo) country. Outgoing Postmaster at Logan Pleasantly Remembered on His Fifty-First Birthday.

(Special to The Tribune.)

LOGAN, Feb. 28.—Postmaster Robert Murdock was very pleasantly surprised this morning upon arrival at the postoffice. The employees of the office had all assembled, the occasion being the anniversary of the birth of Mr. Murdock, and the day preceding his retirement from office. An all-around hearty handshake was induged in, after which the following document, together with a handsome cane, was handed the retiring postmaster:

"United States Postoffice, Logan, Cache county, State of Utah, February 28, 1994.

"Robert Murdock, Logan, Utah—Dear Brother—On this, the fifty-first anniversary of your birth, and upon your retirement as postmaster of this city, we, the employees of the Logan postoffice, present you with this small token of remembrance of our pleasant associations together while laboring in this office. May this cane be a substantial support to you during your journey through life, and may you live to enjoy many happy returns of your birthday, is the earnest wish of us all—Jos. F. Dorius, widow of the late Bishop C. C. N. Dorius, died at her home in this city at 1 o'clock this morning. The cause of her death was inflammation of the kidneys and general debility.

Mrs. Dorius was born in Resor, Norway, April 16, 1837, and at the time of her death was 67 years of age. She was converted to Mormonisn in 1855, and two years later emigrated from her native home to America.

The deceased was married to Bishop C. C. N. Dorius while on board the good ship Westmorland, which carried a large number of the earliest pioneers of the State to America. From Iowa City Mr. and Mrs. Dorius made their way across the continent with the sturdy hand-cart company, having to walk a distance of 1300 miles to Sait Lake. They arrived in the State in 1857 and spent the winter in Sait Lake City.

Funeral services will be held at the Tab-ernacle Wednesday at 1 o'clock.

(Special to The Tribunc.) PAYSON, Feb. 28 -One of the best snowstorms of the season visited this section

PAYSON, Feb. 28—One of the best snowstorms of the season visited this section last night. A full six inches of the beautiful fell, and was very welcome. The ground was in fine condition when the snow came, as the frost was all out of it and the moisture went right into the earth.
Everything points to a presperous year
down liere.

Quite a number of our people are feeling jubilant over the report of a sirike in the Little Chief midning property at Bureka. Quite a block of the stock is owned in Payson.

Walter Henry put men to work on the pipe line which he contracted last fall to lay, again Saturday. This line will furnish water for some of our business houses and also some residences. There are two lines of this class laid in town and are giving satisfaction to their owners.

One of the largest social gatherings that has been seen in Payson in a long time was the Nebo stake Sunday-school officers and teacher's reunion and social.
Among the visitory from other stakes present were Elders L. John Nuttal and Horace Cumming of the general Sundayschool union board of Sait Lake, Elder L E. Eggertsen, superintendent of Sundayschools of Utah stake, who book part during the evening. An excellent programme and picnic was interspersed with dancing, and all present had a pleasant time. All the surrounding towns of this stake were well represented.

Interest in the mining properties near Santaquin is still very lively. All owners are preparing for a thorough campaign of explorations in the spring and this section
may soon have something of a substantial nature in the mining line.

DR. BENJ. YOUNG WARMLY RECEIVED

New Pastor of the First Methodist Church Is Greeted by Large Congregations,

Rev. Benjamin Young, the newlyelected pastor of the First Methodist church, was greated by large audiences at both the morning and evening services of his church yesterday. From the after-remarks and smiling countenances of all present, it was evident that the new pastor had made a most pleasing impression upon his new flock. He is a ready speaker, a logical and sound thinker and possesses a voice of excep-tional clearness and feeling. At the morning services he took for his theme, "The Problem of Jesus Christ." His text was, "What think ye of Christ!" His remarks on this subject were in part as follows.

"The ideal of Christianity challenges thought. Religion being what it is, this can scarcely be otherwise. The principles which are at the basic of the Christian system force themselves into our thinking. Jesus Christ is a sure fact in history. It is scarcely necessary to fortify the statement as to the his-toricity of the master, because few deny it. It is supported by the histo-rians and satirjots of Rome and by the statements of the early fathers of the church. Back of the ideal Christ is the living, real Christ. Rosseau, the bril-liant Frenchman as preciated, the force liant Frenchman, appreciated the force of this argument, for he once said that the gonel bears marks of truth, so great, so striking, so perfectly inimitable that the inventor of such more astonishing than the hero.' And John Stewart Mill confessed that in the same thought there was much that baf-fled him. It is easy to solve the prob-lem of Shakespeare and Hzcon when you remember the laws dominating lit-erary development. But you cannot ac-count for Jesus Christ in the same way as you account for literary gentus, be-cause he sprang out of the heart of a cause he sprang out of the heart of a dying nation and from the remote prov-ince of an empire, the most corrupt which the world has perhaps seen. Then which the world has perhaps seen. Then again, this sinless ideal, and this conception of sinlessness is unique in history. It was not evolved out of contemporary life. There is nothing like it in the philosophy of Greece. And so this question can only be answered with the affirmation of the real loving. Christ back of it.

"The foundations of our religion are not based upon myth nor imposition nor upon imaginative enthusiasm. It is preposterous to suppose that the whole superstructure of our religion is thus based. That Jesus Christ was pre-eminently same is revealed in his doctrine, his parables and his life. The parable of the prodigal son and the good Samaritan and the talents are not the offspring of a disordered nor a fanatical imagina-

Jesus Christ was a complete, symmetrical, universal man. He is a man-type. The great men of the ages have been sectional men-men gathering unto themselves the forces of their own times. Such men were Mohammed and Socrates, and even Luther, the father of Protestant revelation. The last-named was a fremendous force, but he was German in his thinking and Saxon in all his theology. But Jesus Christ is a type of all and is an ideal man every where.

'He was marvelous in his work, great in his doctrine, incomparable in his in-struction. It was a tremendous social truth that he taught when he said. 'Goo was the Father of all men. And the correlative truth of the brotherhood has been an efficient factor in modern progress. It is said that Phidias carved
